Transcript

Jason Carter: Thanks all. First, budget update-Arjun?

Arjun Desai: We've used 91% of our Phase I allocation. Software and sourcing ran hot, engineering underspent.

Marcus Tremblay: The dashboard sourcing change hit harder than forecast. VerdaMold is more expensive than NorthFab, but necessary for ESG.

Natalie Chen: I've already adjusted messaging for VerdaMold. Their 35% bio-based blend plays well in ESG reporting.

Amina Yusuf: We need to update RFQ-RPT-005 and AVL-RPT-003 to reflect the change officially.

Jason Carter: Agreed. Has Engineering finalized their validation gate?

Amina Yusuf: No. We're at 88% software test coverage. I emailed you about it last Wednesday-waiting on your go/no-go call.

Jason Carter: Got it. Let's push freeze until they cross 90%. What's the status on seating configuration?

Marcus Tremblay: Still preserving 37 inches of legroom. We'll lose cargo, but that spec has consumer traction.

Natalie Chen: Confirmed. Marketing is building on that number. Consumers remember it.

Jason Carter: Then it stays. Let's document all deviations from baseline and move forward on the risk summary this week.
